EXTRACT 1

Antonio is a pizza deliverer in London. He has no good work conditions. His boss Joanna (she pretends she is Italian, so calls herself Giovanna) is always complaining about him and pays him not very much money. Antonio speaks to Giovanna to try make more money. Read the dialogue and do the exercises below.

- Antonio : 20 seconds...Joanna, Joanna, I'm here.
- Joanna: Giovanna, you stupido bambino! Giovanna is my name! You are late again, you know?
- Antonio: I'm sorry Giovanna. Maybe If I had an electric scooter I could go faster...
- Joanna: Always complaining, always! Listen to me, stupido bambino. Easy to do the businessmen with my money, eh? I can buy you a helicopter if you want, but I'll take the money from your salary.
- Antonio: With my salary you couldn't buy a broken bicycle, imagine a helicopter.
- Joanna: Is that a complain?
- Antonio: No, no, of course not. Forget about the scooter. But I have a suggestion. You could give the option to pay in advance, you know, through the internet, the website. Or you could develop an APP for mobile phones, like this one. People choose the pizza, they click here and...boom, the money is in your account.
- Joanna: How much does it cost to do this APP thing?
- Antonio: It can be cheap! You can do it yourself and pay a small fee monthly.
- Joanna: Ok. You do the app and I take the money from...
- Antonio: My salary, no don't worry, it was just an idea.
- Joanna: Of course, you have lots of ideas. You owe me 18 pounds for the pizzas you delivered.
- Antonio: Yes, here's the money. *(to public) Amazing, I have to pay to work...
- Joanna: Who are you talking to? Now Mary will give you the other 10 pizzas to deliver. Make it quick.
